

SENATE RESOLUTION 120

By Taylor

A RESOLUTION relative to codes of conduct for district attorneys general, district public defenders, and court clerks.

WHEREAS, while the State of Tennessee has a board of judicial conduct to investigate complaints about judges and issue appropriate sanctions, there are no corresponding codes of conduct or procedures in place to address complaints about other elected officials in the justice system, including district attorneys general, district public defenders, and court clerks; now, therefore,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that we urge the Supreme Court to create a panel of three to five individuals involved in the judicial process to evaluate recent alleged misconduct regarding three elected district attorneys general to determine if any actions need to be taken to hold those officials accountable and preserve the integrity of the judicial branch.
